1. INTRODUCTION

Each year, the ANU College of Law, Governance and Policy may offer an award known as the Yuill Travel Grant to Support the International Court of Justice (ICJ) Fellowship Programme ('the Award').

The objective of the Award is to support the recipient to undertake a ten-month Fellowship programme with the ICJ in The Hague, Netherlands.

Funding for this Award has been provided by the Yuill Endowment established in memory of the late Justice Gordon Yuill of the Family Court of Australia.

2. BENEFITS

The value of the Award is stated in your letter of offer. The Award is paid in a one-off instalment upon accepting the Award unless otherwise stated in the letter of offer.

The recipient is responsible for organising their passport and visa, insurance, and other costs involved in travel to undertake the opportunity.

The recipient is responsible for making payment of all tuition fees by the prescribed date as set out by the University each session. Recipients of the Award are responsible for the costs of books, study materials, accommodation and all other costs of study.

Where there are more equally ranked applicants than there are Awards available, preference may be given, in order of priority, to an applicant:

2. who has not previously been awarded a travel grant from the College.
3. with the highest overall GPA.

The Award is offered to a student by a Selection Committee chaired by the Dean of ANU College of Law, Governance and Policy (or nominee), which will also include two academic staff members of the ANU College of Law, Governance and Policy.

The ANU Selection Committee will typically nominate at least two candidates to forward to the ICJ for final selection. The Award is given to the candidate selected by the ICJ to undertake the Fellowship. The ICJ and/or the ANU College of Law, Governance and Policy reserve the right to make no award if it considers there is no applicant from ANU of sufficient merit.
