1. INTRODUCTION

The Research School of Earth Sciences (RSES) ('the School') within the ANU College of Science and Medicine ('the College') may offer a number of awards known as the Scholarship in Regolith Science ('the Award').

The objective of the Award is to support regolith-related research, especially important for Australian environments.

Funding for this Award is provided through an endowment established in 2008 by the Cooperative Research Centre for Landscape Environments and Mineral Exploration – a joint – venture including the Australian National University (ANU).

2. BENEFITS

The value of the Award is stated in your letter of offer. The duration of the Award is up to twelve months. The Award is paid in equal instalments after the census date each semester unless otherwise stated in the letter of offer.

The Selection Committee reserves the right to consider applicants from the previous round or to make no award if it considers there is no applicant of sufficient merit. The Selection Committee may also vary the number of awards and/or offer the award at other times in exceptional circumstances or based on the standard of applications or students (where funds allow).
